As you can see, we have kept our word about keeping our prices low and quality of service high. With the addition of our new Toll-Free number, 1 (800) BUY AT GAME CLUB (1 (800) 289-2842), we are now able to handle more orders than ever before. That means you get the games you want faster! Also, due to the addition of Express Mail Delivery from the U.S. Postal Service, we are able to increase the speed of your delivery while maintaining the lowest price possible.

In this issue, we will once again take you to the forefront of video technology, as well as give you a peek at what's going on behind the scenes in Japan and other countries. We will also be giving tips, hints, clues and, strategies for the hottest games out right now. These are tips collected from letters you've sent in, as well as tips from our resident authority, Leo Pond. Leo's book, "The Ultimate Hint Book" has met with huge success and the sequel "The Ultimate Hint Book Part II" should be completed sometime soon.

We are also featuring in depth reviews of The Super Famicom and some of it's software titles. There's also a huge list of upcoming games for every system. If you own a Nintendo, Turbo Grafx-16, CD ROM, Genesis, Master System, Game Boy, Lynx, Game Gear, NEO-GEO, P.C.Engine, Super Grafx or Super Famicom, there's something in here for you!

If anybody out there has any tips or easter eggs (That's passcodes for those of you who didn't know), please send them in and if we use them, you'll get to see your name in lights (well, at least in ink). Enough talk! Read on and enter the world of video excellence courtesy of the one and only Ultimate Game Club.

Dear Ultimate Game Club:

I received your letter dated 1/25/91 concerning my credit. I plan to use this credit soon, and to that end would appreciate an updated list of your Neo-Geo games and information regarding the "portable Genesis".

You might be interested to know that SNK is actively counselling people to avoid your club. They say that you are a gray market dealer and that all items sold by you cannot be warranted. My personal experience with you has been quite positive and I look forward to doing business with you again soon, and often.

Thanks again for your attention. I look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely
Patrick R. Storms

— I'm glad we received this letter because it gives us a chance to clear the air once and for all about "Gray Market Merchandise". The term "Gray Market" is coined by some American video game manufacturers in reference to machines and software built in foreign countries and imported into the United States. These machines are made by the corporate counterparts of the American manufacturers. These are fully licensed, authorized goods that earn the Manufacturer's seal of approval in Japan. It's funny. When these machines are imported for play here in America they suddenly become shoddy, inferior machines that should be outlawed and banned. SNK feels strongly that the Neo-Geo deserves special attention and we share their feelings. To this end, they have limited the availability of this remarkable system. Our members are keenly aware of any new developments in the world of video technology and were understandably excited by the promises Neo-Geo made. To try and fill the demand that SNK made, we purchased a few Neo-Geo systems from various European distributors before it was officially released. On the whole, all of the Neo-Geo games and systems sold now by us are American with 90 day guarantees. When a title available overseas won't be released for several months, we will get the Japanese imports for special customers who just will not wait for the U.S. version (But the small amount we actually do import could hardly effect SNK's profits). The above letter is typical of those we have received by people who have purchased these particular systems. Extreme satisfaction with a high quality product. We can't understand why SNK tells people the machines made abroad are inferior when their made by SNK themselves. As far as we're concerned, SNK has never made anything but products of the highest possible quality. We will continue to buy and sell the American games and systems as long as SNK produces them!

Once again let me reiterate. The games and systems we sell are manufactured by SNK of America and do come with a 90 day warranty, regardless of what SNK says. "Nuff said!!

Dear Ultimate Game Club:

Make-A-Wish is a non-profit volunteer organization granting wishes to children under 18 years old with few tomorrows.

It was a pleasure meeting you when I visited The Ultimate Game Club in February.

You were very helpful assisting with appropriate selection's for "Dino's" (Not his real name) wish, "The G.A.M.E.". You were also generous with your donation of games.

"Dino" was very excited when "The G.A.M.E." was delivered and is getting a lot of enjoyment playing his games. His father said "It's good to see him smile again."

I cannot thank you enough for your interest and compassion in helping to make "Dino's" wish come true.

Sincerely
Jo Pellegrino

— There are so many people out there who refuse to believe that anything positive can come from video games. Well, I don't know about you but if video games can make a sick little boy happy, I'd call that pretty damn positive!

Dear Sirs:

Hi! My name is "Herb" and I recently bought a Genesis and Mega Drive game and I just wanted to let you know that they got here safely and quickly. Most other companies don't even have new games like these in stock and usually aren't very cooperative. I just wanted to say "Thank You" and I plan on doing business with you in the near future.

Could you please send your free catalog and any extra information on the P.C.Engine.

Thank you for your time.

Sincerely
Herb Lorenson

P.S.- Could you also inform me (sic.) on your VCR tape catalogs of new games.

— Glad to hear everything went alright, Herb. We hope you are enjoying them. The catalog is on it's way to you and should include all the information you'll need on the P.C.Engine. In answer to your other question, The VCR tapes should be completed by the time you read this. All the info is inside, so read on!

Dear U.G.C:

Your company is the best! You seem to have everything in stock all the time and have one of the best mail services I've seen from a company! I'm Sean Rorison and I'm writing to you for more information on probably the best video game system: The Neo-Geo.

First of all, the price is what has set me back from buying one yet. I suppose by now you've noticed that not everyone can afford such a system, even if it is the totally awesomest thing beside a million dollar computer. So I'm asking you this - Do you carry any used Neo Geo Gold systems, and, if so, how much less do they cost?

My second question is about hooking up the Neo-Geo to a television - I do believe that you said that the Neo-Geo cannot be hooked up to a regular monitor, but only a High-Resolution monitor? If this is true could you please give me some name of TVs that are high resolution. This would be greatly appreciated.

Before I say goodbye, I would like you to answer a final question for me - Do you take American Express? Please respond to me as quickly as possible.

Sincerely
Sean Rorison

— Whew! You sure ask a lot of questions. Lets take these one at a time, shall we? It is rare that we have the used Neo-Geo systems in stock. They are so difficult and expensive to obtain, people rarely sell or trade them. Your best bet would be to call (203) 388-6741 to check on availability and price.

In answer to your second question, the Neo-Geo CAN be hooked up to regular TV. This can be accomplished with the RF switch included with the system. The true power of the Neo-Geo can not be appreciated unless it is hooked up to a High Resolution monitor. Any of the top name brand television manufacturers make their own version of High-Quality monitors. Check with the local Television & Stereo stores in your area. They should be able to steer you towards the best deal for your money.

In answer to your final question; Yes, The Ultimate Game Club will accept American Express, as well as Visa, Master Charge and Discover. We are also able to accept personal checks, thanks to TeleCheck bank systems.

— Ed.

Keep those cards and letters coming. They are our only way to find out what you like and don't like in the ever changing world of video games. Send any questions or comments to:

As you can see, throughout this issue of BEYOND GAMING, we have been showcasing The Ultimate Game Club's newest symbol of excellence; the one and only.....Captain Ultimate! The artwork for this character is by 16 year old Zach Present of Brooklyn, New York. Zach's was one of hundreds of really talented entries in the "Draw Captain Ultimate" contest we ran some months ago. The decision was not easy, but our judges felt that Zach best captured the essence of what we were looking for. Zach will also be helping us design new characters and ideas. We look forward to working with Zach on future issues and ads. Once again, congratulations to Zach Present for winning our contest (and a free game of his choice) and helping us bring "The Captain" to life.

Sega Genesis

Call 1-900-TIP-LINE for the hottest new hints!

When Bob Dylan sang "the times, they are a changin'", video games weren't even invented yet, but these words sum up the 16-BIT revolution quite efficiently. As good as the 8-BIT machines were, they can't hold a candle to current gaming technology. People want the enhanced graphics and game play these advanced systems offer, and are starting to consider the NES and Sega Master System as relics of days gone by. After all, when you've driven a Ferrari, it's kind of hard to enjoy a Hyundai, no matter how many options it has.

Sega was the first to introduce a 16-BITer into the video game market. The Genesis, as it was named, stunned it's audience with it's state of the art capabilities. Games like Golden Axe and Revenge of Shinobi demonstrated that a computer monitor was not needed to get incredible on-screen graphics like those in arcade machines that cost thousands of dollars. A standard television set could reproduce the images with only minimal loss of quality. The public responded with overwhelming approval. This was demonstrated in it's staggering first year sales. Retail stores couldn't keep the shelves stocked and distributors couldn't get the goods from Sega fast enough. Soon a devout following formed and the Genesis' place in the market was secured. Third party manufacturers like Electronic Arts, RazorSoft and some 18 others, were releasing some really good titles to complement Sega's growing game library. All of this is known if you own a Genesis, but what's on the horizon for this super-system? Let's take a look. Sega has released some FANTASTIC new titles for the Genesis, including Midnight Resistance and the long awaited Sonic the Hedgehog. Sega also has other games to be released soon. Games like ToeJam & Earl, the story of two cool, rappin' aliens who are stranded on earth and trying to get home. Fantasia, the best animated film ever, comes to life on your Genesis as you help Mickey Mouse recover stolen magical items hidden in the mastersorcerer's castle. In QuackShot starring Donald Duck, you travel the world with Huey, Duey and Louie, in search of lost treasure. Spider-Man, the Marvel Super-Hero is forced into battle with Venom, Dr. Octopus and Electro and others in the long awaited adventuresaga. There's also DecapAttack starring Chuck D. Head. This unusual character rips his own head off and launches it at enemies, while a second head in his chest chomps and bites enemies that get in his way. Bizarre fun! Mario Lemieux Hockey and Super Volleyball are to be added to the Genesis sports library of games. MERCS, Alien Storm and Twin Cobra, three arcade classics, are on their way to the Genesis along with Streets of Rage, an awesome fighting game that allows two-player simultaneous action. Phantasy Star III: Generations of Doom, promises to be the best RPG ever made. In this one, certain characters get married, have children, grow old and even die! Then it's on to a new generation of characters with different abilities. Each game has four different endings so no two games are alike. Shining in the Darkness, 688 Attack Sub and Golden Axe II round out the list of just a few of the games you can look forward to. Fifteen titles from Sega alone and hundreds more being produced by third-party companies! This kind of quantity will assure the Genesis owner HUNDREDS of hours of entertainment!

5 things Genesis does that Turbo Grafx-16 don't:

1. GENESIS has TRUE 16 Bit technology!
2. GENESIS has twice as many games available!
3. GENESIS games have twice as much memory (4 to 12 megs VS 2 to 6 megs)!
4. GENESIS has an adaptor that plays Master System Games!
5. GENESIS has Sonic!

Call 1-900-TIP-LINE for the hottest new strategies!

Let's face it. Video games are not cheap. When you figure the cost of a good system ($150.00 or more) and add in the price of the software (another $40.00 or $50.00 per title), a pretty good chunk of your allowance is gone. It can get to be pretty discouraging when you have to shell out all that money just for some good, wholesome entertainment. In a world where prices just keep going up and up (and up!), can't somebody do something to stop this madness?

Well, somebody just did.

NEC, the makers of the fantastic TurboGrafx-16, has announced that they are lowering their price on everything for the TG-16, including the system itself! This means BIG savings for you, the gamer.

The new suggested retail cost of the TurboGrafx-16 system is a low $99.99. That's a fifty dollar savings off its present price. There's also a new package available. The "Bonk SuperSet" will include two TurboPad controllers, a TurboTap adaptor that allows up to five people to play certain games simultaneously, and NEC's biggest selling game, "Bonk's Adventure". All of this for just $149.99! This puts 16-bit technology in a 8-bit price range! Wait. It gets better. NEC also dropped the cost of their amazing CD ROM. It used to be $399 but not anymore. They have slashed the price by ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS!!!! That's right. The CD ROM is now only $299!

Like I said before, it's not just the systems that have a new lower price. Game prices have dropped also. In fact, NEC now has twenty four TG-16 games for under $40.00, seven of which are under $20.00!

Now that your interest in this terrific system has been stirred, let's look at some of the new games to be released in the coming months.

New games in stock now; JB Harold-CD and Sherlock Holmes-CD, TV Sports Basketball, Talespin, Bonk II: Bonk's Revenge, Yo-Bro, Davis Cup Tennis, and Impossimole. October will see the release of Silent De Buggers and TV Sports Hockey. The Christmas months of November and December will showcase the following: The Addams Family-CD (from the movie to be released), Dark Wing Duck, It Came From The Desert-CD, Lords of the Rising Sun-CD and Kick Boxing.

Along with the games already released, these new games will bring the total TG-16 game library total to over eighty exciting and challenging titles. Although the price on the TurboExpress color portable has not dropped yet, all of the software for TG-16 will fit without an adaptor needed, so owners of the Express can reap the benefits of the lower priced software.

Since each of the various game systems have their own pros and cons, price has become the deciding factor in the decision to buy or not to buy. NEC has effectively tipped the scales in their favor by sacrificing the gross profit some of the others make, in exchange for satisfying the public's need for lower prices in these economically trying times.

Bravo NEC....Bravo indeed.

5 things TG-16 does that Genesis don't:

1. TG-16 can have 5 player, simultaneous action!
2. TG-16 has the incredible CD ROM! With live action video and sound!
3. TG-16 games can be played at home OR on the portable hand held Turbo Express!
4. TG-16 has cool games for as low as $19.99!
5. TG-16 has Bonk!

SUPER GUN

The Ultimate Game Club has just learned of a new system that is causing quite a stir in the video game market. This system is not at all like anything you've ever seen before. Until now, every system made has tried to duplicate the power and feel of arcade machines. Some have fared well at this, while others just couldn't seem to pull it off. The casual gamer is more than happy with what's currently available because quite frankly, there's good stuff out there. The serious gamer, on the other hand, is still on a quest for the ultimate home gaming system. One that will deliver arcade quality graphics and game play. Well, The Ultimate Game Club has just ended that search. We are proud to announce the premiere of a limited-release home arcade machine called THE SUPER GUN!

THE SUPER GUN is a 32-BIT machine that contains the hardware of arcade machines costing upwards of $10,000 dollars. This incredible device does NOT use home versions of arcade games. That would make it just like all the other systems out there. Instead, THE SUPER GUN uses real arcade game boards, the same as found in the machines you sink all those quarters into. Just imagine being able to walk into your living room, turn on your T.V., and play Street Fighter 2, Final Fight or even the classic Robotron 2084, exactly the way they're played in the arcades. Virtually any game you see in the arcade can now be purchased for home use. This goes beyond the capabilities of even the wondrous Neo*Geo!

Is the price of this remarkable Hi-Tech system $5,000? No. Is it $2,500? No. Is it $1,000? No. How about an affordable $399.99! That's right. A real arcade-quality system in your own home for less than $400.00!

The cost of these games range from $149.99 all the way up to $599.99 for the newest, hottest games. When you consider the typical game player spends $20 to $30 dollars in a single arcade visit, the game soon pays for itself.

THE SUPER GUN! A home arcade machine that delivers high quality at an affordable price!

When you think of video games, the first name to pop into your head will most likely be Nintendo. It stands to reason that with approximately 35 million systems out in the United States alone, the name would tend to stand out. As pioneers in the field of coin-op arcade machines, Nintendo was among the first to set down guidelines for exacting quality and high standards. The response was overwhelming! The millions of dollars being generated through the now primitive coin-crunchers, showed the powers-that-be that teens and pre-teens appreciated the challenge that these games afforded.

In the early 1980's, home video machines were gaining popularity. Gone were the days of Pong, an incredibly simple tennis game using straight lines as paddles and square blocks as the ball. The Atari 2600 was selling very well, largely due to the fact that you were not limited to built-in games. You could go to the store, select the title of your choice (a limited choice to be sure), and bring it home for play. Mattel then introduced Intellivision, an advanced, for it's time, system that had above average graphics and featured a unique alpha-numeric keypad controller. An optional synthesizer allowed the player to hear voices rather than just beeps. Again, a variety of titles were available for this system ranging from sports to role playing games. Right around this time, Coleco introduced ColecoVision. ColecoVision was an excellent system that translated popular arcade titles into home games. Games such as Mr.Do and Donkey Kong were now playable in the comfort of the home.

Enter Nintendo. Nintendo saw the future of home video entertainment and set out to be the leader. They introduced the Nintendo Entertainment System and the rest is history. Nintendo blended great graphics, pleasing sound and a powerful 8 bit computer with a WIDE variety of games. The result was nothing short of sensational. It seemed that everybody wanted to get Nintendo into their house. With the help of third party software, there were soon literally hundreds of titles to choose from. Who could ask for more? You, the experienced gamer, that's who!

You weren't satisfied with what Nintendo had to offer. You wanted more. Sega released The Master System, a very good machine that had alot going for it. NEC then released the Turbo Grafx-16. This had graphics superior to that of Nintendo and Sega. This was accomplished by using two 8 bit micro-processors instead of one.

At this point, both Nintendo and Sega knew that something had to be done. Nintendo countered with the Game Boy Portable Entertainment System. This hand-held unit combined portability with multi-game play-ability. Plus, Game Boy had the conlink cable that allowed head to head action between two systems. Another Nintendo first. Sega, on the other hand, chose a different plan of attack. Rather than give the people something they could use anywhere, Sega gave them what they really wanted. MORE POWER! Sega introduced the incredible 16-Bit Genesis System. 16-Bits! Twice the power of both Nintendo and TG-16. Because the Genesis was more powerful than the competition, Genesis games could really fly. It's graphics were only slightly less than those of arcade machines costing thousands more. Genesis also featured stereo sound. A first for the home market. The release of Genesis was the Death Knell for arcades across the country.

Now the ball was in the other court. NEC had one more ace up it's sleeve. Not a newer, more powerful system, but rather an add-on for it's existing one. The CD ROM. Games with storylines that went beyond the most advanced arcade machines. The sounds that emanated from television sets across the country were now the sounds of real voices and musical instruments. CD games could actually speak with human voices, not digitized. What could Nintendo do to top this, the latest development in the home video wars?

They say before a great storm, there is silence. The more powerful the storm, the greater the silence. Well, it was very quiet in the Nintendo camp. The recently released Atari Color portable, LYNX, was putting the hurt to Game Boy.

Nintendo was Quiet.

SNK released The NEO-GEO 16-bit arcade style home machine. A machine with graphics superior to even Genesis and TG-16 CD ROM.

Nintendo was quiet.

NEC debuted a color portable of their own. Like the LYNX, it had the advantage over Game Boy because it was back lighted and could be played in the dark. Unlike LYNX, the Turbo Express, as it was called, used existing software from the TG-16 library of games. You could even get the optional T.V.Tuner and turn your Express into a color television set.

Nintendo was quiet.

There was joy in the hearts of Sega, NEC and Atari. They had slain the giant Nintendo. How could Nintendo top their best efforts. The king is dead! Long live the king!

Nintendo was quiet no more.

It started as a rumor. Nintendo was said to be releasing a new system in Japan, but there was no release date. It was whispered that this new machine was going to be the one to beat. If, indeed, it could be beaten.

Sega was not about to be caught with it's corporate pants down. The Game Gear was Sega's entry into the portable system wars and was, indeed, an extremely good machine that shared many of the features of LYNX, but Sega wanted more. They immediately started work on both a Genesis CD ROM and a phone modem. Neither of these devices would be ready in time to help. It was too late. It was official. Nintendo would be releasing a 16 Bit computer the likes of which had never been seen before. It's name?...The Super NES!

For now, all is quiet once more. There are still rumblings from the other companies, but the battle is still for now. The horizon, indeed, looks bright. As technology grows, so does the desire to be number one. Well, as we all know, there can only be one number 1. Who is it going to be? It's all up to you.

5 Things that NES has that others don't:

1. NES has more games than all game systems combined, over 400!
2. NES games are less expensive overall than any system!
3. NES has more popular titles, like Castlevania, Legend of Zelda, and Megaman!
4. NES games are easy to find and it's the best overall system for the dollar value!
5. NES has Mario!

Mark Discordia's Discourse

Hi there, game fans! Well, it's finally here!!! The LONG awaited release of the American Super NES. This is the one system to own because of the enhanced graphics, beautiful stereo sound reproduction and, most of all, the awesome games that will be made available. It is undoubtedly the best value for your dollar in the video game market. You can't go wrong with over twenty titles set for simultaneous release with the system. A few of these hot titles are: Actraiser, Castlevania 4, Cave-man Ninja, Super Ghouls & Ghosts, Super Adventure Island, Super R-Type, Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles 3 and, of course, Super Mario 4. The Super NES is enjoying huge success in Japan, thanks in part to strong third party software support. Past experience has shown that what's hot over there really cooks here in the states. What that means for us gamers is an awesome, never ending variety of games and peripherals for this Super-System.

Also there's going to be some more titles released for that amazing system, Neo-Geo! SNK will also be lowering the price for the system in Japan. We can only hope that the same decrease will happen over here. The Neo-Geo is still the reigning king of home video game systems, and each game is awesome, except for the limitless continues (but this is being corrected on future games).

The P.C.Engine is currently going out on a limb to change it's image with a new CD card to update existing CD quality. Yes, the P.C.Engine will be around for a while. We also see the Mega Drive and Super Famicom coming out with CD units of their own. After playing Y's Books I, II and III, you will see that NEC has set the standards in this field. Bonk's Revenge is just waiting to hit the U.S., so Hudson Soft and other companies are hard at work turning their P.C.Engine games into TurboGrafx hits. Will Bonk be on CD? Just wait and see!

Now let's talk about the Mega Drive. You have to give them a big thumbs up for turning out great quality games month after month, and I don't mean just a few! I'm sure that all you genesis players know what I'm talking about! I could spend the rest of the day talking about all of the titles that have come out from Japan and the ones that are on their way. Just take a look at the list elsewhere in the magazine. There's something for everyone. Sega has put a lot of hard work into their games lately and they deserve credit for their effort. They've advanced their player control which makes playing Sega more fun.

As you can tell from our catalog section, The Ultimate Game Club has the best selection of Japanese games and systems to choose from, and at great prices. If you have any questions on the latest scoop from Japan, call the game club at (203) 388-6741 and someone will be there to help you.

It appears that Camerica, the Canadian manufacturer of "The Game Genie", has won the right to distribute this controversial product not only in Canada, but in The United States as well! If you remember, Nintendo took Camerica to court to prohibit the production and sale of the "Genie". It was Nintendo's contention that the "Game Genie" altered the programming of games played through it, thus violating their copyright. Camerica pointed out that the programming was not permanently altered and that the original characteristics of the game reverted back to the original format, once the game the game is removed from the "Genie". Camerica also declared that the original storyline could not be altered. For example, Mario could not be made to appear in "Mega Man", nor could extra levels be created. If the purpose of a game is to rescue a prisoner in a castle, that is still the goal. Changing the background colors, or giving a character extra life or higher jumping abilities, does not diminish the qualities of a game. Rather, it enhances them.

It's reassuring to know that the courts do work, and that Nintendo can't impose its will, upon the gaming public, at its discretion. But the decision is still up to you. Should you be able to bend the rules if a game is too difficult? That's a tough one to call, but if deviating from the original programming helps you get your money's worth, who's to say that's cheating. Not us, 'cause we think it's pretty neat!

Will Camerica design a Game Genie for the Super NES, TurboGrafx-16, or Genesis. This is one thing that makes you go Hmmm.....!

Sepo's Rock and Role-Playing

Just when you thought it was safe to go back to gaming, I'm back! Boy, has it been a busy few months. For those of you who don't know, my names Sepo and this column is devoted to those adventuresome gamers who are devoted to that highly complex style of game known as RPG's (as in Role Playing Games). First, let's take care of some of those letters I received from some of you readers.

Dear Sepo:

I just joined The Ultimate Game Club and I got your catalog with the game I ordered. I think your part was cool because some games are tough and I need some help and maybe you could. I got Fantasy Star II and I love it!!!! I'm having a big problem. I picked up the yellow card and now I don't have it. My mom says that I lose everything I own so she's not surprised I can't find it. I know I didn't use it so where is it? Also what do I do with the muzik technique. I play it and I hear music but nothing happens. Help me Sepo!

Sincerely
Michael Duff
Los Angeles, California

— Mike, I've got some good news and some bad news for you. The good news is The Muzik technique is used to open the door that has a organ in front of it. When you play the organ, the door will open. The bad news may be pretty bad, if you haven't been saving your game under different names as you go along. The only way to lose an item is to not have any room to carry it when you pick it up. Now, most items, if you are loaded to capacity, will automatically go to the next character in your marching order. I say most because the cards don't do this. If you pick up a card and you have no room to carry it, the computer will simply "Toss" the item away and it will be lost forever. Since you can't continue without opening all of the dams, you are going to have to reset the game and begin from a point before you tried to pick up the card. No big deal if you've been saving the game at various points. On the other hand, if you haven't been.....well, do the words "back to the old drawing board" mean anything to you?!

Dear Sepo:

I'm going out of my mind! How do you beat the last wizard in "Y's: Book 1 & 2". I have the Cleria Shield, Armor and Sword. I have the Cleria Ring and all of the magic powers but this dude wipes me out before I even do 1/3 damage to him! I've tried all of the magic and nothing helps. Shield magic does the best but it uses up all my magic in just a few seconds, then I'm dead! What am I doing wrong?

Yours truly
Matthew Barry
Deep River, Connecticut

— Matt, don't panic! You are using the wrong combination, that's all. Don't use the Cleria Ring when fighting this guy. Equip yourself with the Goddesses' Ring and the Shield Magic. The ring will slow down your magic consumption. Your magic should last until he's about 1/2 out of life, then you've got to stick and move until you beat him. You can do it Matt, you can do it!

Super NES

Call 1-900-TIP-LINE for the most up to date listings!

The wait is almost over. It's almost here. Just around the corner. We're talking about one of the most anxiously awaited systems ever released..... The Super NES!!!! This is Nintendo's entry into the 16-bit wars. From what we've seen, this is one hot machine. Graphics, sound, game play, this one can do it all, and do it with style! Let's take a look at what makes the Super NES so super:

|-----------------|---|
| Memory | 1 Full meg (That's 1,000,000 bytes of info.) |
| Extension Ports | 28 Extension ports under the system RF, A/V, RGB, and Super VHS attachments Duel joystick ports |
| Pixels | 64 by 64 |
| Colors | 32,768 on palette |
| Sound | Que (A step up from Surround Sound) |

The rotation, scrolling and scaling features of this system are incredible, unlike any other 16-bit system to date. In the fast paced game F-Zero, a hovercraft racing game, these features are extremely apparent as you race around corners or carom off of barrier walls.

A new CD-ROM unit has been rumored for this super system and the cost should be around $750 when it hits Japan. That is a little expensive but from what I've heard, it's going to be well worth it! This should be one of the best CD's to hit the market.

One company that is rumored to be entering the video game industry is Sony. If this is true, you can imagine how these games should turn out. Since Sony is one of the best electronics companies in the world, the games released should be of very high quality!

Here's a list of all Super NES games to be released between now and June 1992:

5 things the Super NES does that Genesis & TurboGrafx-16 don't:

1. Super NES characters and scenes, scale and rotate in any direction!
2. Super NES has the incredible power of Nintendo, bringing you updated versions of some awesome 8-bit characters and giving the exciting new adventures in a 16-bit format. Games like Castlevania 4, Ghouls'n Ghosts 3, Mega Man 4 and Zelda 3 that can't be played on any other system!
3. Super NES is more technologically superior to both Genesis and TurboGrafx-16!
4. Super NES has more functions on one control pad than TurboGrafx-16 and Genesis combined!
5. Super NES has Mario!

As you know, games are what count so let's look at some the incredible titles being released for Super Famicom. Remember, games are typically released for the Japanese Super Famicom 6-12 months before being released in the United States. Of course the Ultimate Game Club will have an adapter to play Super Famicom on the Super NES and vice versa! Plus an adapter to play 8-bit games on the Super NES!

NEO*GEO

Call 1-900-TIP-LINE for the hottest new specials!

Videogames were always fun. On a rainy day, it was nice to have something to do other than clean your room. Turn on your TV, pop in a game and go rescue a princess or save the galaxy. The on-screen characters were cute and you could make them jump or shoot the bad guys.

Then SNK decided to take matters into their own hands.

The Neo*Geo was unleashed upon the gaming public. I say "unleashed" because the Neo*Geo didn't just enter the video game market; it attacked it. Attacked it with the ferocity of a pit-bull. The Neo*Geo's graphics and play-action were unmatched by any other system. The games had unique storylines and its characters were large and life-like. No doubt about it, the Neo*Geo was intended for adults. Not to say that kids can't play or enjoy Neo*Geo, but kids aren't as fussy as adults. Neo*Geo can satisfy the needs of the most discerning gamer and still maintain a high level of gaming excellence.

The Neo*Geo has shown us a view of things to come. In time, the high cost of this system should come down a tad, putting it within reach of we mortals. But until that day, The Neo*Geo has lived up to its name, The New*World of video perfection.

2. Neo*Geo has 2 16 bit processors, 15 channels of sound, 4096 colors, and 1380 sprites which means if you took a Super NES, Genesis, and a TurboGrafx-16 and put them all together you still would not have the power of a Neo*Geo!
3. Neo*Geo is the closest you can get to a real arcade machine because it is used in the arcades!
4. Neo*Geo has a memory card that you can save up to 27 different games on it at one time. The card can also be used in the arcade version to continue or save a game!
5. Neo*Geo has King Of Monsters!

GAME GEAR

Call 1-900-TIP-LINE for every magazine's Hot Line!

Sega does it again. Yes, the Game Gear is out and it's better than promised! The biggest gripe about Sega has been the lack of a quality portable system. Well, gripe no more! The Game Gear is really cool. The on screen graphics are awesome, and the games are challenging. There's also the ever popular TV tuner available. This effectively turns your Game Gear into a portable color television. The Game Gear's library of titles is admittedly small at present time, but all that's about to change. In addition to games designed exclusively for the Game Gear, The Ultimate Game Club has obtained EXCLUSIVE rights to the Master Gear adaptor. This is an adaptor that fits onto the Game Gear and allows Sega master System games to be played through the Game Gear! This will instantly increase the number of games available from 10 to about 150! When it comes to gaming, The Ultimate Game Club doesn't fool around.

5 Things That Make The Game Gear The Best Overall Handheld:

1. Game Gear is in color!
2. Game Gear has many HOT Genesis titles in its format!
3. Game Gear has many Japanese games available for it before US versions arrive!
4. Game Gear has the Master Gear which lets you play Master System games!
5. Game Gear has Sonic!

ATARI LYNX

Call 1-900-TIP-LINE for every game counselor Hot Line!

Way back in the late 1960's, (before most of you were born) NBC (as in CBS and ABC) used to say "The following is brought to you in living color" before each prime time program. This was because color television was new and exciting. What a treat it was, to be able to see your favorite TV stars in their natural flesh tones. But this was almost 30 years ago. Color television is in practically every household. Color is passe'. Well, you try going without color and you'll see just how exciting color can be.

Those of you who are fans of portable gaming (and there's lots of you), have been forced to sacrifice color in exchange for portability. The Gameboy by Nintendo is a terrific system with lots of software, but black and white just don't cut it anymore, dig? Color is where it's at and the first company to be tuned into this was Atari. The Atari Lynx was the first color portable released in America, and boy, does it have color. It's hard to believe that a system this small could produce images as sharp and as clear as a full size color television. The Lynx also included a cable that allowed head-to-head action. The Lynx may not have the library that the Gameboy has, or the TV tuner option that the $350.00 Turbo-Express has, but at 1/3rd the price of the Express and the same price as Gameboy, you get an awful lot of quality and value for your hard earned money.

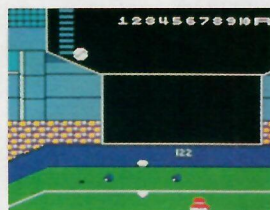

5 Things that make the Atari Lynx better than other hand-held:

1. Lynx is in color!
2. Lynx has many original games not available on other systems, home or hand-held!
3. Lynx can handle 16 units comlinxed together to play at the same time!
4. Lynx is the only true 16 bit hand-held!
5. Lynx is the lowest priced color handheld on the market!

MEGADRIIVE & PC ENGINE

Call 1-900-TIP-LINE for the hottest new Japanese info!

For many years now we have been importing Megadrive and PC Engine cartridges and disks and for those of you who know what these are, great, but I'm sure there are many of you who are asking yourself "what the heck is a Megadrive or PC Engine?"

The Megadrive is the Japanese version of the Genesis home entertainment system which has available for it many games that are not or will not be available in the US. For those of us who are "hard core" gamers this means a wider variety to choose from!

The PC Engine is the Japanese version of the TurboGrafx-16 system. This system offers a much greater selection of games than the US TG-16 due to the fact that it is much more popular in Japan, having almost twice as many games and CD's it opens the US consumer to a much greater selection than he would normally have.

And now the big question, do these work in my US version of the Megadrive or PC Engine(Genesis or TurboGrafx), the answer is yes as long as you have the appropriate converter. The Megadrive converter for the Genesis is available for 29.99 and the PC Engine converter is available for 39.99.

NEW UGC STUFF

We at The Ultimate Game Club are always trying to make the boundaries of the video game frontier not quite so fixed. The parameters built into systems at the corporate level are somewhat limiting by design. But, as the Berlin Wall demonstrated, no restrictions are permanent. The manufacturers want their systems to be able to do only certain things. That's the way THEY want it, but as Homey would say "I don't think so. We don't play that!" We at U.G.C. are tearing down those barriers with the release of an incredible line of adapters designed for those of you who won't settle for limitations. Let's take a look at portable innovations first!

To start with, we are releasing The Master Gear. This fits onto your Sega Game Gear and allows 8-Bit Master System games to be played through the Game Gear, increasing the present ten game library to over one hundred! Wait it gets better. There's also the Master Gear 2. This works in conjunction with the Master Gear and enables a Master System controller to be plugged into the Game Gear, allowing 2 player simultaneous action (on Master System games designed for 2 players at the same time). There's also the Power Gear that allows you to play your Game Gear games on your Master System or on your Genesis using the Power Base Converter. No more small-screen, eye-squinting game play. Turn those tiny figures into giant, playable characters. Don't despair, Game Boy owners, we have not forsaken you. The Game*Mate could be just what you've been waiting for. Have you ever wanted to hook up with a friend for competition play, but you and your friend didn't have the same games? Well that's no longer a problem! The Game*Mate allows two Game Boy's to hook-up with just one game needed. Think of the money you can save by not having to buy the same games as your friends. We also have other devices designed to save you money as well as space. The Spider AC Power Adaptor can supply power for ALL of the following systems: Nintendo, Game Boy, Super NES, Genesis, Game Gear, TurboGrafx, TurboExpress, Lynx, Super Famicom, PC Engine and PC Engine GT. That's right. One adaptor to service all your video power requirements. There's also the Black Widow DC Power Adaptor. This is an automobile cigarette lighter power adaptor that plugs into The Spider and allows Lynx, Game Gear, Game Boy, TurboExpress and PC Engine GT to all be played in the car with just one adaptor. We can't forget The Tarantula, an adaptor that does everything The Black Widow does but does it with it's own battery pack. Plug in the battery pack and when it's charged, you're 100% mobile!

Our innovations don't stop with handhelds, that's just the beginning. We are releasing The Neo*Geo Top Pro Adaptor that will enable the High-Quality Neo*Geo controller to be used with Nintendo, TurboGrafx, Genesis, Mega Drive, PC Engine, SuperGrafx and more! There's the Nintendo Passport that allows American Nintendo games to be played on any of the international Nintendo consoles, an impossible feat until now. There's Color Magic, a device that lets you play NTSC systems such as Super NES, Genesis, Nintendo, TurboGrafx and more on PAL TV. Finally, we have adapters that allow Super Famicom games to play on the Super NES and one that lets Super NES games play on Super Famicom. And the best for last, an adapter that allow you to play 8 bit Nintendo games on your Super NES called the Super 8!

No other video game club IN THE WORLD can offer all that we do. We have geared our company towards bringing our members the finest in video game entertainment from around the world. If we see a demand in the market, we will go out of our way to try and fill that gap. These adapters, though just the tip of the iceberg, should prove this quite efficiently. We don't call ourselves The ULTIMATE Game Club for nothing.

The Rescue of Dino & Hoppy

BEDLAM IN BEDROCK!

Licensed by

Nintendo

Turn your watch back a few million years and join the whole Flintstone family in prehistoric pandemonium. A visitor from the future has taken Dino and Hoppy, Fred and Barney's pets, for his prehistoric zoo. You have to help Fred get them back and restore happiness to Bedrock.

You must journey through Bedrock collecting pieces to build a time machine. Watch out though, primitive foes will cause many woes! Bikeman, Frankenstone, King Snake, and Saber Tiger are just a few of the unfriendly obstacles you and Fred will have to outsmart and outwit. Take advice from your friends in Bedrock too! They can provide helpful hints and key clues.

Well, you'd better get moving. You still have to figure out how you're gonna use Fred's one-on-one basketball skills, build that darn time machine, rescue your beloved pets, and much, much more!

Wow! You're gonna be awfully busy.

Don't worry though; this comical adventure and Fred's encouraging "YABBA DABBA DOO!"™ will leave you in stone-age stitches.

MAIL-ORDER YEA

Dear VG&CE:
In the Yea & Nay column of the March 1991 issue of VG&CE, the question was raised as to the reliability of video-game dealers who advertise in your magazine. As I regularly use three of those companies, I wanted to take a few minutes to put in my two cents worth.

The first company I used was Ultimate Game Club (UGC). I ordered a Mega Drive game, Batman, and then had to wait two months for them to ship it. It seems they did not really have it in stock when they took my order. When they finally got the game in, I received it two days later. Since then, I have been very careful to order games only when I know that they are in stock. The five or six times I have ordered from them since, I have received prompt service and the quickest delivery of any company I have used so far. They almost always have new games in stock and must have a good supply of used games to fill my orders so quickly.

The next company I used was Play It Again. They almost always have the lowest prices on used games, and offer quick turnaround time on their orders. Since they do not accept credit card orders, their service is not as fast as UGC, but it is still fast. My one complaint is that in the six times I have ordered, I have only once received my first choice of games (they force you to list alternates, and I almost always have to settle for one), leading to a sometimes unpleasant experience, even though their flyers frequently boast of their good selection. Overall, though, I have been pleased with their service.

The last company I used was BRE Software. Even though its regular prices are sometimes the highest, I have never had to settle for a game I didn't want. I tried twice to get Monster Lair for the TG-CD from Play It Again, and both times I had to settle for alternates. The first time I called BRE, the game was in stock. The order then got lost, resulting in several calls to BRE. I had to call my credit card company to put a hold on the charge until the problem was finally resolved. Since then, I have enjoyed good service and have always gotten the game I wanted. My only complaint is that they take far and away the longest to ship games out. Even using a credit card, I still have to wait at least ten working days (two weeks in "real time") before receiving my order. This long waiting period is unreasonable in this day and age.

Still, I am glad that all those companies exist and recommend them to anyone. They all have their own little quirks, and they all charge way too much for postage and handling, but they provide a valuable service to gamers, and I look forward to dealing with them all in the future.

—Gary O'Neal
Murfreesboro, Tennessee

Thanks for your informative letter, Gary. This proves what we've been saying all along, both in the magazine and on the various online services where the subject has come up. Mail-order buying is much different than walking into a store, and it comes with its own set of warnings and recommendations to follow. As we noted previously, you should always make note of when a purchase is made, and never pay in cash; checks and credit cards are much easier to track if a dispute should arise. Verify that a product is in stock before you buy, so you'll have an idea of when it will arrive. Also, be aware that there's some danger in ordering import games, because the instructions and screen text are usually in Japanese, making games harder to play. We've received some reports of counterfeit carts on the market. (We'll be running an article on imports in a future issue.) The rule is "Buyer Beware."

Finally, we are setting up a dialogue with all mail-order companies that advertise in VG&CE, so that we may better moderate problems that our readers come up with. We don't have a lot of control over the actions of our advertisers, but we will try to assist in rectifying any problems that occur. If you have a complaint or bad experience with an advertiser, don't hesitate to write us. We'll do our best to help.

READER NAY

Dear VG&CE:
How about a Nay to Electronic Arts for packaging its Genesis games in those frustrating cardboard boxes? Mine have decomposed practically from normal wear and tear. Why didn't it put the games in plastic cases like all the other companies? Besides, after the
